FRIDAY NIGHT DIALOGUES

Friday, July 5th, 7:00pm

Jeffrey Sussman: *Boxing and the Mob: The Notorious History of the Sweet Science

Jeffrey Sussman, a former boxing publicist, has written a sports history that, according to Publisher's Weekly, "... has the knockout power of a good punch." Mr. Sussman's book covers the criminal underside of boxing - the fixed fights, the legendary boxers (those who caved to mob threats and those who refused), the greedy managers and the paid-off referees. Mr. Sussman's book is a fascinating contribution to American sports history.

Friday, July 12th, 7:00pm

David Browne: *Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young: The Wild, Definitive Saga of Rock's Greatest Supergroup

Folk rock legends Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young had a short-lived but brilliant existence as a quartet. Renowned music and entertainment journalist David Browne did extensive archival research as well as new interviews with band members and their circles to chronicle the bands' beginnings, the genius that each member contributed, and the ego-driven feuds that split them up. Mr. Browne will talk about this fast-paced and comprehensive history of the group that produced classics such as Suite: Judy Blue Eyes, Ohio and many more.
